Butzel attorney Derek Mullins will lead the discussion to bring clarity to the evolving landscape, offering insights into new regulations, compliance requirements, and shifting priorities that are reshaping how the government buys goods and services.

The webinar will focus on:

- Rewritten Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR): Preview the revisions mandated by executive order and understand how the changes may affect contracting practices across all executive agencies.
- Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC) – DFARS Final Rule: Explore the final rule that took effect in November 2025, including:
  - Substantive requirements
  - Phased implementation strategy
  - Certification, compliance and subcontracting implications
- Procurement Priorities Re-Alignment: Gain insight into the administration’s signals of transformation, including:
  - The Department of War’s Acquisition Transformation Strategy
  - Government-wide push for commercial item contracting

This webinar is designed for professionals across the federal contracting spectrum. Individuals who are part of the Aerospace & Defense industry, will gain critical insights into how evolving regulations are reshaping procurement strategies. Established contractors and subcontractors will benefit from a deeper understanding of compliance requirements and the practical impact of new rules on day-to-day operations. For emerging companies preparing to enter the federal marketplace, this session offers a roadmap to navigate the complexities of government contracting and to help position businesses for success in a rapidly changing environment.
